

Tribute by the Campbell Grandnieces

Our grandaunt 'Otsoo was a formidable lady, blessed with a sharp mind, impeccable elocution and a great sense of style. Well-travelled, she would often entertain us with stories of her trips and even pass on issues of one of her favourite magazines, The People's Friend, thus exposing us to countries and cultures we had yet to experience. She was nonetheless just as skilled in her native Ga culture, wielding the language beautifully whether she was teaching us about our history, giving advice, telling jokes or delivering an expertly constructed scolding.

We will remember her most for how generous she was with her affection, time and gifts, and how she made us feel at home whenever we visited. She was a bonus grandmother, a constant and loving presence in our lives; it is impossible to put into words the hole her passing creates. We will simply have to learn to keep going, putting to good use the knowledge and Godly wisdom she instilled in us over the years.

Auntie 'Otsoo, we thank God for you. We'll miss you.
